IT MAY NOT HAVE GONE UNNOTICED THAT THE BREWERY HAS BEEN SHROUDED IN SCAFFOLDING SINCE APRIL

Every six years we undertake redecoration works, painting the wood, iron work and signage to maintain the appearance of our Grade II listed building. It gives us a chance to examine every element of the fabric and, inevitably, attend to the constant wear and tear that occurs with the passage of time.

A programme of works, involving stone masons, joiners, roofers, contractors, lead workers and glaziers has ensued under the supervision of our maintenance staff and consultant architects

The brewery was rebuilt in 1881 by Messrs Card & Son of Lewes from designs of the eminent brewery architect William Bradford of Carlton Chambers, Regent Street, London. During construction work, they unearthed the weather vane that sits on the top of the brewery tower. Dated 1621, it is believed to have originally graced St Thomas a Becket's Church in Cliffe High Street. In 1985, the smaller tower was added to the original in order to increase our production capacity. Built in the exact style of the existing building, it was the recipient of a Civic Trust Award and our listed status followed shortly afterwards.

In many ways, Harvey's is a 'heritage site'. Behind its brick façade you will find a production area that has been maintained over the centuries to reflect a time honoured brewing process. Sacks of UK grown malted barley and bales of locally grown hops are held within the original stores and brewing equipment has been maintained or replaced to perpetuate a method of production that has withstood the test of time. It takes a large number of dedicated staff to ensure that standards and procedures are maintained.

In an age where many companies are relocating to alternative sites and constructing breweries that are more automated and cost effective, we feel that the heritage of Harvey's is well worth protecting and maintaining. We are fortunate that many devoted customers share these same ideals and continue to enjoy a range of our award winning local beers.

We are very proud to remain brewing in the heart of Lewes.

CAMRA Presentations

East and Mid Surrey CAMRA Cider Pub of the Year, Cider and Beer of the Festival Awards

The afternoon of Saturday the 27th of April 2024 saw members of East and Mid Surrey CAMRA branch assemble at Cobbett's Beer Shop and Micropub in Dorking to make a number of presentations. The first award went to Cobbett's themselves for winning our Branch Cider Pub of the Year for 2024, the second year in succession that they have won this title. Pictured here handing over the award is our branch chair, Rob Wells, surrounded by Tim and Helen from Cobbett's.

Presentation of Cider of the Festival to Eldred and Henry Barnard

Finally, we jointly presented both Cobbett's and Surrey Hills Brewery with the award for Redhill Beer of the Festival 2023 for Collusion XXX. As its name suggests, Collusion is an ongoing joint effort between the brewery and Cobbett's. Pictured again is Martin Longhurst handing over the awards to Jem from Surrey Hills and Tim from Cobbett's.

The second award went to Barnard's Cyder for their Surrey Medium winning Redhill Cider of the Festival 2023, which is Barnard's first ever award. Produced locally in Abinger Hammer, their ciders can normally be found on sale at Cobbett's and were also available at this year's Farnham Beerex. Pictured below is our Redhill Festival Organiser, Martin Longhurst, making the presentation to Eldred and Henry Barnard, along with some of their ciders currently on sale in the shop.

Surrey/Hants Borders CAMRA Pub of the Year and Cider Pub of the Year Presentations

In recent years it has become an annual ritual to visit the Star in Godalming to present landlord Andy Mounsey and his wife Emma with a certificate for being the Surrey/Hampshire Borders branch of CAMRA's Cider Pub of the Year. Whilst Andy has always been pleased to receive this award, he has secretly wanted to win the branch Pub of the Year award.

The last time a Godalming pub won the award was in 2003 when Ian Thompson won the award at the Red Lion. Ian also ran the Star in Godalming, concentrating more on this pub when he sold the Red Lion.

Andy worked for Ian in those days but always wanted his own pub, initially taking on the Royal Oak in Guildford before returning to the Star to take over from Ian.

Andy was thrilled to be told that he done the double this year winning both Pub and Cider Pub of the Year. To celebrate this success Andy arranged with Waverley Council to close the road outside the pub on Saturday 11th May to have a party. Many locals and CAMRA members enjoyed the sunshine and a selection of no fewer than 17 – yes 17 Real Ales alongside the usual selection of ciders.

The presentation was made by Mick Bell, chairman of the Surrey/Hampshire Borders branch of CAMRA. It was encouraging to see the Mayor of Waverley enjoying the event, it was also great to see Ian Thompson again back at the Star.

Surrey/Hants Borders CAMRA Branch Club of the Year Award

On 1st May the Surrey/Hants Borders (SHB) Branch presented their Club of the Year Award to the Woking Railway Athletic Club. The award was handed over to the Club committee representative Peter by the SHB Chairman Mick Bell. The club has built up a reputation over the years of serving good quality beer from a varied selection of different breweries. The club is also in the 2024 CAMRA Good Beer Guide. The club is open to card carrying CAMRA members, but regular visitors are required to join the club.

Museum opens "Pubs and Breweries past and present in East Surrey" display

The East Surrey Museum in Caterham has just opened "Pubs and breweries past and present in East Surrey". Steve Taylor of Godstone Brewers came and opened the exhibition and gave a talk on brewing, which was so successful the Friends of the Museum went on a visit to his micro-brewery and tap room on the 7th June.

The exhibition includes a number of traditional pub games such as: shove ha'penny, table skittles, quoits. A large-scale map shows the location of all public houses in East Surrey, past and present with pictures (post cards from the museum's extensive collection) of the pubs. There is a representation of a bar, with a selection of tankards, bottles, pumps and related material. They have also been loaned a number of brewing items by Godstone Brewers, showing the brewing process and are very proud of the original Clayton Arms sign from Godstone, which is now the White Hart.

The museum is located in Caterham and is dedicated to displaying and preserving artefacts and documents relating to the social history, archaeology and geology of East Surrey. From humble beginnings dating back to 1980, the museum has been on a mission to preserve and celebrate the rich tapestry of East Surrey's history. From ancient artefacts to more recent relics, every corner of this museum is steeped in the stories of the past.

The museum is also a hub of community engagement and learning. Throughout the year, the museum hosts a variety of events designed to educate and inspire visitors of all ages. It also boasts a vibrant children's play area. Designed to engage and entertain young visitors, the play area offers a hands-on experience where children can learn about history through activities and games.

The East Surrey Museum is located at 1 Stafford Road, Caterham Surrey CR3 6JG. It is open Wednesday and Thursday 10:00am to 5:00pm and Saturday 10:30am to 4:00pm. Admission is free but donations are welcomed. Contact phone number is 01883 340275 and email eastsurreymuseum@gmail.com

ADDESTONE

Holly Tree

After several years without real ale, has recently featured one or two including Hardline Midnight and Hogs Back TEA. Hopefully real ale will become a regular event, more reports welcome. Lawrence Milligan

ALDERSHOT

Golden Lion

In early May a hungry party of fifteen enjoyed the magnificent Sunday Roast (£8.95 "Medium") and excellent Fullers London Pride. Note that Sunday lunch needs to be booked and is available September to May inclusive. Peter Broberg

Red Lion

On my recent visit there were four Real Ales available: Dorking Pilcrow Pale (4.0%), Sharps Doom Bar (4.0%), Robinsons Trooper (4.7%) and a collaboration beer between Adnams and Vocation Brewery called Balmy Days (4.3%). PB

Tracks

The former Funky End reopened in March following a major refurbishment, though it doesn't appear much has changed inside and real ale is still not available. Kevin Travers

White Lion

Triple fff beers have not been seen recently, with several other beers available instead. On my most recent visit there were two beers from Exmoor Brewery, "Ale" (3.8%) a classic bitter and "Cheeseburger Chaser II" (4.0%) a deep golden ale. The latter beer was stated to come from "Pathfinder by Exmoor Brewery" which is a small batch brew facility at the brewery. Triple fff fans (i.e. me) will be pleased to hear that Triple fff beers will be returning soon. PB

BETCHWORTH

Dolphin

This Young's pub has reduced its beer range to maintain quality, and I wish more pubs would do this as now casks tend to last just a couple of days. On sale will normally be one Young's beer plus two guests, such as Harvey's Sussex Bitter,

Twickenham Naked Ladies or with one from Surrey Hills or By the Horns. Roy Golding

BLACKWATER

Royal Swan

Reopened in April with a new tenant, but it is not known if real ale has been reintroduced. KT

BOOKHAM

Anchor

The new owners have retained Surrey Hills Ranmore and Fullers London Pride as regular ales. Good home cooked food is available at lunchtimes and on Friday fish nights. Frank Charlesworth

Old Crown

Recently acquired by Heartwood Collection and currently undergoing renovation as a Heartwood Inn. Reopening date not known at the time of writing. Jon Clark

BRAMLEY

Wheatsheaf

This pub is almost next door to the Jolly Farmer, which in real ale terms casts a significant shadow. It seems to cater for a different clientele, particularly it has an actively used pool table. Fuller's London Pride is on as a staple and usually one other real ale which was Butcombe Bitter on the day of my visit. Charles Meade-King

BROCKHAM

Royal Oak

Having been closed for a few months, the Royal Oak re-opened in May 2024. Surrey Hills Ramore is on sale alongside Timothy Taylor Landlord. On a visit shortly after re-opening it was good to notice Ranmore was being ordered far more frequently than any other product. RG

BUCKLAND

Pheasant

This Bruuning and Price pub on the A25 between Reigate and Dorking was found to be selling a good selection of local beers, including Dorking, Surrey Hills and Titsey on a weekday evening in May. RG

BURPHAM

Anchor & Horseshoes

The pub has had a small refurbishment and increased the range of real ales from three to four. Greene King Abbot Ale is permanent with three guests. Pilgrim Morris performs at the pub each summer. Pint jugs are available and quiz nights are proving a hit. Dylan Thomas

CAMBERLEY

Bear

Terry's done really well here since taking over from Sully's young widow last year – the place is buzzing most of the time, with a good menu to choose from, and groups popping in for a coffee and chat. A variety of cocktails seem to be popular, too, as well as the variety of lagers and beers. Among recent cask ales we've often seen favourites such as Twickenham, Black Sheep, and Hogs Back beers. Behind the bar Connor (who's been here for eight years, so also knew Sully well) and the crew are kept busy, especially when they have live music on, and even busier than usual! The 'loos' have been totally re-done recently, and the gents and ladies swapped around, with new toilets, hand-driers, etc. Well done, Terry and the crew! Doug Fish

Cabin

Since taking over the lease of this outlet in 2017, constructing an excellent wooden bar, and furnishing with all sorts of bric-a-brac around the place, the Cabin has become a firm favourite with many of us in the area. Although there's no cask ale here, they have draught Guinness, Amstel, and Hofmeister, complemented by a large variety of bottled beers and ciders, including some bottle-conditioned beers such as St Austell Proper Job. Live bands feature every Sunday afternoon, professional bands alternating weekly with Open Mic sessions, and special Midnight Blues nights on the last Monday evening of each month. Thanks for creating this maverick pub in Camberley, Sparks, ably assisted by your ever-cheerful staff! DF

Camberley & District Club

This is a private members' club, (knows locally as CADS) located close to Park Street's bustling shops and restaurants. The club is free of tie, enabling it to provide a broad choice of beers from many brewers, rotating a cask at a time, with a good range of bottled ales also available. The favourite casks have included Timothy Taylor, Courage and Windsor and Eton. In recent months, with more customers turning to lagers and craft beers, there has been a noticeable reduction in demand for nine-gallon casks, but considerable success is being enjoyed by moving towards bright beer, which is supplied before every weekend. This has included Windsor & Eton Windsor Knot, and Loddon's Ferryman's Gold, which was superb, but did not last long, and will be ordered again soon. I hear that Triple fff Alton's Pride will be on tap shortly and look forward to visiting CADS Club again then. Harry Fish

Disruption is Brewing

Chris Davies took over the old Ascot brewery in Surrey Avenue (Camberley) about seven years ago, and soon decided that the time was right to expand to larger premises, which he found in the industrial area just on the Surrey side of the Blackwater River, in Lawrence Way. There he built a brand new brewery, and recently changed the name to Disruption is Brewing. The ground floor dedicated to the brewing process (and toilets!), and the upstairs area providing a long bar with plenty of seating, and a "cellar" behind, with loads of kegs of various types of beer, with the occasional cask offering. He later provided various games, such as table football and shuffleboard (amazing game!) and he encourages the use of the "mezzanine floor" as a place to enjoy a casual lunch, or watch special matches on a huge TV projection screen. The outside area is normally used for parking brewery vehicles, but for beer-festivals it serves as an excellent area for long tables and benches, and for food-serving areas. Thanks for your great initiative and energy Chris, and to all your team – carry on brewing, please! DF

CHERTSEY

Kings Head

Closed and boarded up for a couple of years, I believe this has now been purchased by the local Beacon Church. Subject of a listed building planning application to make alterations, with a view to development as a community hub. Maybe this will include a bar, but not known at this time. LM

Olde Swan

Received a Highly Commended Award in 2024 Cider Pub of the Year competition. Usually, a couple of real ciders on including Seacider. Excellent pizzas, and food menu has been recently updated. Dog friendly LM

Experiences of the Surrey/Hants Borders CAMRA members who travelled to the National CAMRA AGM at Dundee

SHB Branch members and South Devon Chairman Bob Southwell outside the venue in Dundee

Tribute to Robert (Bob) Hunt who passed away last year

A healthy contingent from the Surrey Hants Borders branch travelled all the way to Dundee at the end of April to attend the National Weekend. Aside from the formal business there was plenty to do socially with a beer festival laid on in the venue, various organised side trips and the numerous pubs in Dundee and the surrounds which had all been advised of the event and most had ensured they had a cask ale on which is not always the case in Scottish pubs.

A few of us went to Law Brewery on an organised visit on the Saturday where we were royally looked after by Danny Cullen who is the owner, brewer and in fact everything at the brewery and his Mod (hopefully we have all heard of Mods and Rockers from the 60's) themed beers which were all excellent and generously available to sample. During one of the intervals a super tribute was shown on the large screen for Robert (Bob) Hunt an active branch member who sadly passed away last year.

Tony Lea

I had not been to this part of Scotland for over 20 years. In those days the pubs were often dominated by English beers, if you could find real ale at all. Imagine my feelings back then when having travelled those many miles to be confronted with a pint of London Pride and I certainly don't recall Dundee as any sort of beer mecca. Since then, there has been an impressive national growth of breweries and beer choice so I was hoping that the situation had improved. The railway station was certainly improved with the frontage resembling King's Cross with its LNER bow arch exterior and modern internal escalator, but had the pubs and beer changed? Central Dundee has three pubs in the Good

Beer Guide (GBG). The Bank was the first to be tried with Mor's More Tea Vicar followed by the Phoenix with Orkney Dark Island, the quality was very good and not an English beer in sight. There was also food on sale, but it was low key and the "English disease" with prominent menus, place settings and reserved signs was yet to arrive. They were pubs with food but weren't trying to be a restaurant. There was also a Wetherspoon in the GBG, but this proved to be a disappointment. First impressions were encouraging with a large bank of hand pumps. I went English and requested a Roosters beer, but the quality was poor and I was obliged to beer score it as a 1. There were probably too many beers to maintain good quality, but I could not be certain of this as the chain has the habit of not putting beers on all the hand pumps with a "coming soon" sticker on them. I am a supporter of Wetherspoon's pubs and do not wish to be seen as "knocking" them. In fairness they were incredibly busy, not least in catering for all those CAMRA members who had descended upon the city with the conference venue little more than 300 yards away. In general Wetherspoon is well represented in this part of Scotland. A fair-sized town like Arbroath has only one pub in the GBG and that is a Wetherspoon which probably says something about the local availability of real ale. Dundee is a relatively small and laid-back city with a nice feel to it. My only criticism is that there did not appear to be many bars in the town centre, but I did not have time to test the veracity of that statement. There is a good rail service towards Aberdeen and I was hoping to find some classic Scottish bars. We started in Montrose with only one GBG pub and easy to find from the station. Incidentally, the up platform has splendid views over the estuary, but is very exposed to any winter winds coming off the Highlands. The pub certainly had traditional elements, notably a mosaic floor and etched windows, but was not quite the real thing. That was to be found at a bar called The Grill in Union Street, Aberdeen with a long oak bar with ornate fittings and three Scottish beers. The other pubs in town did not come close, but the beer was fine. For some strange reason,

The Grill pub in Aberdeen

where smaller traditional bars were found they were often covered in fairy lights. Somehow the words tradition and fairy lights do not fit comfortably together. Broughty Ferry is on the same line and boasts four GBG pubs. The only one I can recall from the last visit was the Fisherman's Tavern which was one of few pubs boasting 25 consecutive years in the GBG but was subsequently dropped for one year spoiling its perfect record. It remains a fine pub as is the Ship Inn next door. Returning to Dundee by train the platform was heaving. Obviously, the attraction of four GBG pubs in one town was not to be missed by CAMRA members. On the Sunday we returned to the Bank where we had started three days earlier. The pub had been drunk dry and there was no real ale despite ordering three times the normal amount of beer. Next year the 2025 National CAMRA AGM is in on my home territory at Torquay!

Bob Southwell

After Dundee.....

When I booked a hotel in Dundee last year to attend this year's CAMRA AGM and Member's weekend I suggested to my wife, Janet, that we hire a motorhome and visit northern Scotland. She readily agreed so after a bit of research we booked our motorhome which became affectionately known as "Scooby" thanks to a registration plate including the letters SCO. We initially intended to do the North Coast 500, a 500-mile route around northern Scotland however we began to hear stories that it might be crowded and not as good as we hoped so we decided to visit the Outer Hebrides. Once things had wound up in Dundee, we drove over to Perth to pick up Scooby. I'd made some beery enquiries and contacted the local CAMRA branch who confirmed that Real Ale is a bit of a rarity in the area. Setting off from Dundee we headed for Nairn, near Dundee where we found the excellent Bandstand pub. This had lovely views over the Moray Firth although more importantly an excellent pint of Cromarty White Out a 3.8% golden ale alongside TT Landlord and Inveralmond Ossian Ale both also in great condition. Unfortunately, we were a few days early for their beer festival however I'm sure the locals will have enjoyed themselves. Next day it was onward to Ullapool for the ferry to Stornoway. As we had a couple of hours to wait in Ullapool, I investigated the local pubs. WhatPub indicated that the Argyll Hotel was the best bet however I was told that they didn't do Real Ale until May as there was no demand. I found this amusing as it was April 30th and the next day would be May 1st!! My thirst was slaked on the ferry as they sold Loch Ness Brewery bottled beer although not bottle conditioned. Stornoway had one bar that sold Real Ale, the Crown Inn. A decent pint of Fyne Ales Jarl and a half of Deuchars IPA were enjoyed after a day wandering around the town and some local beaches. We spent the next few days driving southwards through the islands. It was quite a few days later that I found some more Real Ale in the Westford Inn on North Uist. Fyne Jarl along with Isle of Skye Red and YP were available plus a couple of Willams Brewery beers (Birds & Bees and Joker) on keg. I had found a brewery in Tarbert, Loomshed however they just brewed a lager and a Scottish Ale. I visited the brewery and tried both, a bit cold and gassy but it was good to see at least someone trying to brew local beer.

The Loomshed brewery in Tarbert

We had to catch a ferry from Leverburgh to Berneray, and beside the ferry car park was the Isle of Harris Brewery, they had 10 beers available, again all keg but a far better choice.

I'd heard good reports of pubs on Eriskay, the Am Politician, named after the ship that sank nearby that inspired the film Whisky Galore, unfortunately had only Isle of Skye Red in bottles and Drygate Seven Peaks and Caledonian Best on keg. The Polochard Inn had bottles of Isle of Skye Red, Gold, Black and Raven alongside Skye IPA on keg. There were also some empty Loomshed kegs outside although the barmaid couldn't tell me anything about them. We returned through the Isle of Skye where the Slaighcan hotel sounded good. The onsite Cuillin Brewery is still operating, however the cask beer is only sold in Seuma's Bar and this week it was closed on the day we visited so I had to settle for Cuillin Session, a keg beer. All in all we had a great holiday, the scenery and beaches were stunning, we saw White Tailed Eagles, Golden Eagles, visited beautiful deserted beaches however the lack of decent beer was a bit of a disappointment.

Forty years, and still going in Farnborough

On Saturday 4th May, Peter and Julie Moore celebrated being at the Prince of Wales, Farnborough, for 40 glorious years. John Medhurst bought the Prince of Wales in 1981 as part of his Memory Inns estate. In 1984 Peter and Julie were employed as landlord and landlady at the pub. They themselves bought the pub from John in 2002, and the ownership has remained with them.

For anyone who has not yet visited, this is a wonderful multi-award winning Real Ale pub. With five regular beers on the front bar and five guest beers on the back bar, there is always something to enjoy. They hold a beer festival in October and other events throughout the year.

The day of celebration generated lots of conversations starting "Do you remember when ..." and ended with NRG, a local duo, playing up-tempo covers to an enthusiastic crowd dancing and singing along.

Congratulations to Peter and Julie for keeping such a great pub for us all to enjoy, for the past 40 years.

DOCKENFIELD

Bluebell

Robin Catchpole and his family have been running the Bluebell for the past 11 years. Turning a fairly run-down pub into a successful gastropub, which recently won a very highly prized Estrella Damm top Gastropubs award. Whilst the focus is very much on food, up to four local real ales are also available. However, a threat to the very future of the pub has arisen following a planning application, currently being considered by the local council. This is to remove an existing requirement that the house next to the pub cannot be sold or leased separately from the pub. Whilst on the surface this might seem quite innocuous, it actually presents a serious threat to the pub's future if it were to be approved. The landlord lives in the house and it is obvious that to sever the link between the pub and its adjacent dwelling would threaten the very existence of the Bluebell as a viable establishment as the success of the pub is intrinsically tied to the presence of its proprietors on site. Furthermore, the assertion that the quality and viability of the pub are unaffected by such a separation is not only erroneous but also profoundly shortsighted. Fortunately, the local community seems to agree, with over 80 objections all making broadly the same points. KT

DORKING

Cricketers

There is a new landlord here and the pub is now open every day from midday till 11:30pm and does food every day. Tim has taken over from Rosie, who had been the landlady for fifteen years. It was good to see that he has restarted the beer festivals, which had stopped after COVID. For the one held from 6th to 9th May there were thirteen beers in the tent outside as well as the four inside. Sally Gingell Old House

This pub, now run by Dorking Brewery, recently had their Aldhurst Original, Black Noise, DB One and Pilcrow Pale available as well as Pilgrim Progress as a guest. SG

DORMANSLAND

Old House at Home

Continues to be a popular village pub, with two well-kept ales available. Peter Spooner

EAST HORSLEY

Thatchers Hotel

This hotel closed during lockdown and was subsequently used to house refugees but reopened in April. It has a typical hotel bar, open to non-residents, but the availability of real ale is not known. KT

EAST MOLESEY

Europa

Recently reopened after refurbishment and now part of Stonegate's Craft Union chain, Fullers London Pride and Timothy Taylors Landlord are typically available. Live sport is shown and there is a pool table in the back bar. John Burns

Poyntz Arms

This former Shepherd Neame pub reopened in April 2024 under the management of Esher based brewery Big Smoke. Up to ten real ales are on offer several from Big Smoke and Shepherd Neame plus guest beers from around the country. A good range of quality food is available all day and the pub has regular live music including an Irish jig band every Thursday. 10% CAMRA discount except on Mondays when all ales are currently £3.50. JB

EGHAM

Egham United Services Club

The Beer Festival in March was again successful, with many ales selling out in first couple of days. Winner of Branch Club of the Year 2024, and currently subject of ongoing refurbishment. Check WhatPub in case opening hours are affected. The next Festival is planned for Wednesday 24th to Saturday 27th July 2024, where further funds will be raised for local charities. LM

EGHAM HYPHE

Compasses

Has been closed and boarded up for over a year, and is the subject of a planning application to demolish and redevelop as housing. This has been turned down by Runnymede Borough Council due to flood plain related restrictions rather than loss as a pub. LM

ENGLEFIELD GREEN

Happy Man

Regular beer festivals, most recently in May. Four ever changing real ales, and food menu recently revamped. LM

EVERSLEY

White Hart

This traditional pub is on the edge of Eversley village, known for its close connections with Charles Kingsley, and the local cricket club, one of the oldest in the country. The pub is well run by Tori and Zoe, who have extensive experience in the hospitality industry, and are now providing good food as well as a range of drinks. On my recent visit I enjoyed the Black Sheep Respire session ale (4%) which was in excellent condition, and also a very fine meal, so I'll be back soon! There is an extensive car park and garden area, with picnic benches, very popular on summer evenings. This is a dog-friendly pub, with canine treats in jars on the bar. On cold winter evenings you will be welcomed by a log fire. Best to phone in advance for your bookings and information: 01183-437031. HF

FOX CORNER (WORPLESDON)

Fox

A recent stop found five local beers, two from Surrey Hills, two from Tillingbourne and one from Dorking. I first tried the Surrey Hills Ranmore and it was fantastic. I then tried a beer which is not normally to my taste, Dorking Aldhurst Original, and this was also really good. You can get a CAMRA discount here. RG

GODALMING

Antelope

This new craft beer bar and bottle shop finally opened in April. It is serving a range of 10 keg beers, from microbreweries across the world, but no real ale. KT

HOOKWOOD

Black Horse

Now no longer in the clutches of Badger Brewery, this free house sells three cask beers with Sharp's Doom bar available alongside one or two guests. This was found to be By the Horns Ho-padelic on a recent trip. The pub's main draw is the food. Alongside a more standard pub group menu there is a large selection of Indian meals. RG

LIMPSFIELD CHART

Carpenters Arms

Since the pub was acquired by Titsey Brewery, three of their ales are available, plus Harvey's Sussex Best and Larkin's Traditional. PS

NUTFIELD MARSH

Inn on the Pond

In a rural position between Merstham and Nutfield, this Shepherd Neame pub sells two of their beers, Whitstable Bay Pale and Spitfire. A good pint of the former was enjoyed on a recent visit, whilst overlooking the surrounding countryside. RG

OCKLEY

Cricketers

The beers available at this pub in April were Surrey Hills Ranmore and Shere Drop as well as Harveys Best. SG

Inn on the Green

On the same trip in April the guest here was Arbor Mosaic alongside the regular Surrey Hills Shere Drop. SG

OKWOOD HILL

Punchbowl

There was an unusual beer for the area available in April here. Timothy Taylor Landlord Dark was on as well as Dark Star Hophead, Fullers London Pride and St. Austell Proper Job. SG

OXTED

Oxted Inn

Next to the station it usually has up to seven ales available, including various guests. The demise of Cellar Head Brewery will sadden some customers, as their popular ales regularly featured on the bar. PS

REDHILL

Garibaldi

The pub has been put up for auction but the group operating this community run free house on the southern edges of Redhill is trying to raise £500,000 through Crowdfunding to buy the freehold of the premises. RG

REIGATE

Roe Deer

On Croydon Road, a little way away from the town centre, this small pub has one real ale on sale, with Timothy Taylor Landlord alternating with St Austell Tribute. The former was in good condition on a recent visit. RG

SHALFORD

Parrot Inn

There is the possibility of good news of the pub reopening one day. A planning application from Pearmain Pubs has been submitted - 24/P/00613. Proposed single story and first floor extensions, timber frame pergola, garden outbuilding and associated landscaping; changes to fenestration, new ventilation and kitchen plant. C M-K

£2 single bus fares scheme extended to end of 2024

The Government scheme to limit single bus fares to £2 (two singles are often cheaper than a return ticket) has been extended to the end of 2024 (please check if your route is covered by this scheme before travelling <https://www.gov.uk/guidance/2-bus-fare-cap#south-east>).
